

BUDGET SAVVY TIPS FOR BUYING FURNITURE

PASS ON THE 0% DOWN OFFER

Spreading the cost of furniture over a few years seems like a budget-friendly option at first blush, but these types of offers typically include a significant price markup. Plus, if you don't pay off the balance in full within the timeframe, the interest rate kicks in — with back charges — on the entire original balance.

SCOPE OUT ESTATE SALES

Of all the budget-friendly furniture buying tips out there, shopping estate sales is a true gem. You can find fantastic deals along with some vintage, designer, and hard-to-find items that big box furniture stores simply don't offer. To get the most out of estate sales, go early and take cash. Other helpful things to pack for the search include:

Tape measure to make sure pieces will fit

Masking tape and a marker to claim what you want to buy

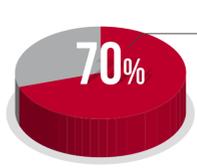

Flashlight so you can examine each piece

DON'T OVERLOOK SECOND HAND FURNITURE

You know what they say: One person's past is another person's future. Garage sales and estate sales aren't your only option for finding beautiful used furnishings. CORT Clearance Centers can save you up to 70% compared to full retail price on high-quality, previously rented furniture.

PRIORITIZE, PRIORITIZE, PRIORITIZE

Really think about the furniture that matters most to you, and then invest more money where it counts. For example, the average person spends around three hours a day on the sofa. If you also plan to use it as a makeshift guest bed, you might want to spend a little more on a sofa than other pieces you won't use as much.

NO NEED TO RUSH

You don't need to buy everything all at once. If you're wondering how to buy furniture without overspending, then follow this golden rule: Take your time. Buy a single piece or a few small pieces at a time to avoid emptying your bank account. This allows you to focus on investing in quality instead of quantity.

RENTALS ADD CONVENIENCE IN THE MEANTIME

You don't have to live in spartan accommodations as you slowly furnish your home. Renting furniture allows you to instantly make your house a home, even as you slowly work to fill it with permanent furnishings. And it's easy. Just choose the pieces you need, schedule delivery, and then arrange for pickup and removal when you're ready to replace the rentals with your own furniture finds.

FLOOR MODELS FOR THE WIN

One of the best furniture buying tips if you want to buy new is to ask stores about buying floor samples that are in good condition. You might need to be patient and wait until most of the stock sells out, but your patience can result in a huge win for your bank account.

Floor samples can save you up to depending on where you're shopping & what you're buying.

65%

BUDGET SAVVY TIPS FOR BUYING FURNITURE

BUDGET SAVVY TIPS FOR BUYING FURNITURE

PASS ON THE 0% DOWN OFFER

Spreading the cost of furniture over a few years seems like a budget-friendly option at first blush, but these types of offers typically include a significant price markup. Plus, if you don't pay off the balance in full within the timeframe, the interest rate kicks in — with back charges — on the entire original balance.

SCOPE OUT ESTATE SALES

Of all the budget-friendly furniture buying tips out there, shopping estate sales is a true gem. You can find fantastic deals along with some vintage, designer, and hard-to-find items that big box furniture stores simply don't offer. To get the most out of estate sales, go early and take cash. Other helpful things to pack for the search include:

Tape measure to make sure pieces will fit

Masking tape and a marker to claim what you want to buy

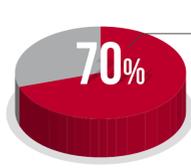

Flashlight so you can examine each piece

DON'T OVERLOOK SECOND HAND FURNITURE

You know what they say: One person's past is another person's future. Garage sales and estate sales aren't your only option for finding beautiful used furnishings. CORT Clearance Centers can save you up to compared to full retail price on high-quality, previously rented furniture.

PRIORITIZE, PRIORITIZE, PRIORITIZE

Really think about the furniture that matters most to you, and then invest more money where it counts. For example, the average person spends around three hours a day on the sofa. If you also plan to use it as a makeshift guest bed, you might want to spend a little more on a sofa than other pieces you won't use as much.

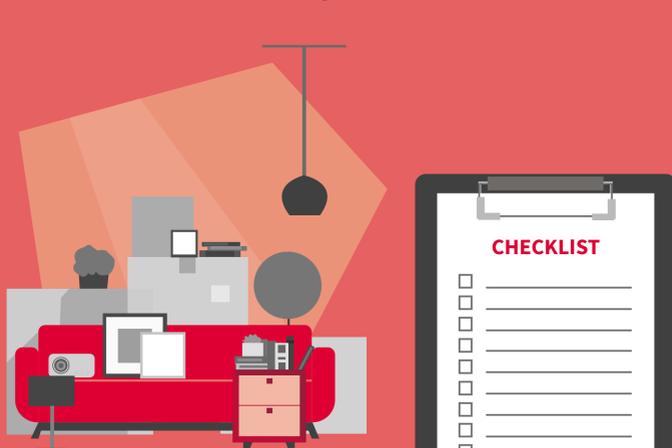

NO NEED TO RUSH

You don't need to buy everything all at once. If you're wondering how to buy furniture without overspending, then follow this golden rule: Take your time. Buy a single piece or a few small pieces at a time to avoid emptying your bank account. This allows you to focus on investing in quality instead of quantity.

RENTALS ADD CONVENIENCE IN THE MEANTIME

You don't have to live in spartan accommodations as you slowly furnish your home. Renting furniture allows you to instantly make your house a home, even as you slowly work to fill it with permanent furnishings. And it's easy. Just choose the pieces you need, schedule delivery, and then arrange for pickup and removal when you're ready to replace the rentals with your own furniture finds.

FLOOR MODELS FOR THE WIN

One of the best furniture buying tips if you want to buy new is to ask stores about buying floor samples that are in good condition. You might need to be patient and wait until most of the stock sells out, but your patience can result in a huge win for your bank account.

Floor samples can save you up to depending on where you're shopping & what you're buying.

65%